Casey represents clients in a wide range of litigation matters.

In his practice, he maintains an athlete's mentality, diligently competing for his clients and persevering through any adversity that may arise. Having played baseball in front of thousands of people, no moment is too big for Casey as he handles situations with both an intensity and calm nature. His varied background and fresh perspective consistently allow him to knock it out of the park for his clients.

Casey clerked for a U.S. Attorney's Office in law school and worked as a Summer Associate with McManis Faulkner.

"What counts in life is not the mere fact that we have lived. It is what difference we have made to the lives of others."-Nelson Mandela
